

GEORGE MEDALS FOR LUTON MEN

MR. J. C. CUNNINGHAM, D.S.O.

CAPT. D. A. S. MARTIN

Two more Luton men have been awarded the George Medal. They are Mr. J. C. Cunningham, D.S.O., of St. Margaret's-avenue, Luton, a Luton factory defence officer who is also a platoon commander in the Home Guard, who is described as "having carried out hazardous duties with gallantry"; and Capt. Dennis A. S. Martin, R.A.O.C., only son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Martin, formerly of Hart Hill, Luton, "for courage and disregard to personal danger in unarming anti-tank mines after an explosion at North Fort, Gibraltar, continuous and dangerous work in searching for and digging out unexploded bombs after air raids and personally driving the truck containing the bombs after recovery."
